

Internship Vacancy: Security Risk Analyst (Full-time)

Forth Global is an internationally-oriented security risk management company and total solution provider in terms of travel safety and security. We believe that security should enable organizations to do what they do best in complex environments and frontier/emerging markets. As an innovative and fast-growing company, we use our knowledge of business and organizational processes to make robust security solutions.

The Risk Advisory team is specialized in creating organizational and individual resilience by giving holistic security risk management advice to companies, governments and aid agencies. The team is composed of a mixture of experienced and starting security professionals. Our interns get into the position to combine strategic analysis with formulating practical and operational recommendations, as well as learning about the commercial and client-oriented dimensions of consultancy.

Your tasks

- Monitoring global security developments and gathering intelligence on these;
- Drafting early warning notifications, security alerts and policy recommendations to our clients in the public, private and NGO sector;
- Assist in the further development of our analysis methodology;
- Support the Risk Advisory activities of Forth Global; and
- Crisis Management reviews and simulations.

Your profile

- We are looking for a candidate with the right balance between analytical, commercial and communicative skills;
- You are pursuing a Master degree in a relevant discipline (Security management/International Relations/Conflict Studies etc.);
- Excellent spoken and written English;
- Enthusiasm, putting the client first and being able to work independently but towards a common goal is something we do not compromise on; and an
- Affinity with international travel or assistance in a non-'Western' setting (ideally Africa and/or MENA).

Conditions

The foreseen starting date is 22 July 2024 and the internship lasts for 6 months. The starting date, hours/week and duration can be altered by agreement. We have offices in The Hague and Baarn. This is a hybrid internship and interns are expected to work both in-office and remotely. Interns will receive a stipend and any work-related travel expenses are covered.
